

OVERTHERHINE

{ACROSS THE WEST}

CONVERSATIONS ON A MUSICAL TRAIN November 5-10, 2010

Join critically-acclaimed Ohio band, Over the Rhine, and their amazing guests for an unforgettable train ride through the sacred spaces of the American Southwest. Music, conversation and natural beauty are the fuel for this spirited journey. We will explore Santa Fe, peer over the edge of the Grand Canyon and seek out the painted desert.

There are 45 total tickets available. The train leaves from Los Angeles. Check out OvertheRhine.com for more, or email questions directly to trains@sover.net. We hope you can join us! On board:

OVER THE RHINE – We (Karin, Linford, and our very own surprise guest, drummer and percussionist, Mickey Grimm) will be playing concerts throughout the trip, raising glasses to and with our friends (old and new), and watching some of our favorite parts of the world go by...

SWAN DIVE – Songwriters, Bill DeMain and Molly Felder, (and Molly's husband, Mickey Grimm) will delight you with their harmonies and beautifully-crafted pop songs. Bill and Molly have performed and collaborated with many of Nashville's most gifted. You will soon come to appreciate their generosity as both musicians and curious human beings... (swandive.org)

LUCY WAINWRIGHT ROCHE – Lucy grew up in Greenwich Village, New York City, the daughter of Suzzy Roche of The Roches and Loudon Wainwright III. Her childhood was spent living out of a suitcase, either on the road with her parents or being ferried around to different relatives in her big musical clan – one of the most storied musical families in North America. We have had the privilege of touring with and getting to know Lucy. We love her songs, her clear-as-a-bell voice, her instinct for a great story, and her unforgettable sense of humor. You will too. (www.myspace.com/lwrlwr)

MICHAEL WILSON – is an American photographer and music lover who has photographed a wide array of songwriters and artists – Lyle Lovett, John Hiatt, Emmylou Harris, BB King, Andy Warhol, Joe Henry, Randy Newman – and many, many others. His photographs have figured prominently throughout Over the Rhine's recorded catalog, and Karin and Linford have cited Michael as one of their most important influences, musical and otherwise.

Michael will be presenting his work throughout the week and has generously agreed to make individual portraits of all who board the train – an amazing keepsake. Those interested will also have the chance to hop off the train at various times, cameras in hand, and make photographs with Michael. (michaelwilsonphotographer.com)

LYNN NEAL – It just so happens that our naturalist on board, who will be available to illuminate much of what we're seeing, answer questions, provide some historical context etc is a Barnesville High School graduate from Barnesville, Ohio, and former classmate and friend of Karin's (lead singer for Over the Rhine. Lynn now resides and works and conducts research in Arizona, and has a contagious, memorable sense of humor as well. We're so happy it worked out for her to ride along.

OvertheRhine.com for more info.

E-mail questions directly to: trains@sover.net.

